EIGHT SUITS ARE BROUGHT

Against Business Companies
For Abbreviating
"Incorporated."

FOLLOW LATE DECISION

All of The Firms Sued were Attempting to Observe the Law.

Basing the actions on the recent ruling of the Court of Appeals that the abbreviation "inc" does not fulfill the law which requires the word "Incorporated" to be plainly displayed in all advertising done by incorporated firms, Commonwealth's Attorney Denny P. Smith has filed eight suits for $500 each against companies of this city.

The Williamson Stone Company and The Meacham Construction Co. have two suits each and The Anderson-Fowler Drug Company one. In all five of these cases the complaint is that the defendants did unlawfully and willfully fail and refuse "to have the word incorporated appear in certain newspaper advertisements." In all of the advertisements complained of the abbreviation was used by the newspaper. The same complaint is brought against The Forbes Manufacturing Company in two cases, with the exception that the advertisements to which exception is taken appeared in the Home telephone directory. One count is lodged against the Giant Insurance Agency, which is different, it being alleged that they failed to have the word appear on a sign which was hung in front of their place of business.

Only last week five cases, similar to the first five outlined above, against The Cumberland Telephone Company were settled by the telephone company accepting a fine of $100 in one case, the other four being dismissed.

The Forbes Mfg. Co. had an advertisement in the telephone book that appeared on numerous pages. In many of them the word was used and on one page it was abbreviated.

In the case of The Meacham Construction Company the copy contained the word incorporated but was abbreviated by the printer and corrected as soon as the publisher discovered that the full word was not used. The suits are based on the advertisement as it appeared in the New Era May 2nd and 3rd.

60 BOOSTERS BLEW IN TOWN

And Spieled For Nashville
For an Hour and a Half.

WERE LIVELY BUNCH.

An Hour of Speech-making
Indulged In At Hotel
Latham.

The Nashville Boosters came in Tuesday, at 1 o'clock in their special train, about 50 or 60 strong, and forming behind their own band marched up Main and Ninth streets, to the Hotel Latham where they were formerly received by the business men, who turned out in force to meet them under the lead of President Jackson of the Commercial Club and Chairman Geo. E. Gary, of the Reception Committee. An address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Meacham, who told the visitors that the business men would like to take them over the city in automobiles to see its beauties in detail, but the streets were so crowded with building materials that it was impossible to get through them. He said that he was glad to meet the Boosters because Hopkinsville was in the boosting business herself, but was too busy building houses to leave home on pleasure trips. He introduced Mr. Geo. E. Gary, who further welcomed the visitors on behalf of the committee.

Mr. Leland Hume, of the Cumberland Telephone Co., responded to the addresses of welcome.

Other gentlemen who spoke were; Robert L. Burch, editor of the Merchant and Manufacturer; Alfred H. Williams of the Harris, Davis & Co., dry goods and notions; Ossie J. Walsh, of Perry & Walsh, wholesale hatters; Hunter Wood, Sr., James Breathitt and Eugene S. Shannon, secretary of the Nashville board of trade.

The Hopkinsville Commercial Club had arranged to give the Boosters a dinner upon their arrival here but they ate on their own dining car and came in half an hour later than their schedule called for.

Florist T. L. Metcalfe presented the Boosters and Hopkinsville people that were present at the hotel with button hole bouquets of carnations.

The last half of the time spent here was devoted to calls made on business men at their places of business. The Boosters left at 2.00 o'clock for Princeton.

They encountered rain at Clarksville, but it was bright and clear while they were here.

"Four years ago Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at L. A. John-experience with the remedy. Before using them, pains existed through-

Resolutions of Respect.

Resolutions of Respect passed by the Church Hill Grange in memory of Sister Mary Jones Gregory, who died the 22nd of April, 1907.

Since it has pleased our Heavenly Father to take from us a faithful and efficient member in the person of Sister Gregory.

Be it resolved: That we will ever miss her bright smile and cheerful presence which has been so suddenly snatched from us, that we can hardly reconcile ourselves to the thought.

And yet the future may reveal the good, the discipline that there may be in this, our loss, for "Jesus doeth all things well."

That we do hereby offer our sympathy to the bereaved niece and other relatives of the deceased Sister.

That a copy of these expressions of esteem be published in our county

THE SECRET OUT.

A Wide Open Statement.

To refute the many false and malicious attacks upon the form and other untruthful statements published concerning Dr. Pierce's World-famous Golden Medical Discovery, the Doctor has decided to publish all the ingredients entering into his Favorite Prescription for weak women and his equally popular tonic alternative known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Hereafter, every bottle of these medicines leaving the great Laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., will bear upon it a full list of all the ingredients entering into the compound. Both have made entirely from native medicinal roots. The ingredients of the "Golden Medical Discovery" being a non-alcoholic extract of Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Black-cherry bark, Mandrake root, Blood-root and Stone root, preserved by chemically pure glycerine.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, being made of native medicinal roots, is next to Nature and is the best tonic you can use. It fills the blood with rich, red blood corpuscles. It gives you a feeling of strength, and it puts sunshine into your system as no other remedy can. That is why Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been such a favorite for the past forty years. No man or woman can be either healthy or handsome who has impurities in the blood, for it will show in pimples, boils, and eruptions in the dark circles under the eyes and in the sallow complexion. After taking "Golden Medical Discovery" you are bound to have pink cheeks and a fresh complexion. The muscles get the good, rich red blood, that puts on strength. It is a flesh builder, but not a fat builder.

As an example of the good results thus obtained, note the following letter:

"In the year 1880 I had an attack of indigestion and got so bad that my home doctor said he could not cure me any more. I wrote to you and you advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, so I bought six bottles, and when I commenced using it, it was so weak I could hardly walk about the house. By the time I had used one bottle my stomach and bowels commenced to heal. There were stripes of the lining of my bowels as large as a man's fingers passed and I had a great deal of mucus in my stomach and bowels, and also in the rectum especially. I could not eat anything without having these mucus clumps afterward, but by the time I had taken eight bottles of the Golden Medical Discovery I was sound and well, and could eat anything I desired without suffering in the least. Could also do as much work in a day as I could ever do. I have not suffered from indigestion since.

RECOGNITION OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

If suffering from an obstinate malady which would naturally prefer to take a medicine of known composition, every ingredient of which has the endorsement of the one hundred and seventy-five medical practitioners and writers, or one which, for aught you may know, may be made up of very inefficient and even harmful agents. Is it not best to trust upon knowing what one is taking, as is every one's right, whether being prescribed for by the family physician or making use of a proprietary remedy? We think so, especially in view of the disparaging articles concerning various advertised remedies with which the drug and medical journals have been filled for months past. Doctor Pierce courts the severest criticism of the medical profession as a confident that he will receive fair treatment from all fair-minded, well qualified brethren of the medical profession who cannot believe in the non-endorsing medicine of the composition of which they and the people are kept in ignorance.

These are the Original Little Golden Medical Pills, first put out over 40 years ago by Dr. R. W. Pierce. They have been made since and are of the same quality and composition as the original. They are tiny, sugar-coated and concentrated vegetable extracts. Without disturbance of the stomach, indigestion, bilious attacks, sick and nervous headaches, and all the ailments of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved and cured. By their mild and natural action, these little Pills gently lead the way into natural ways again. Their influence lasts.

BEST DINING CLUB SHAD ARE DOOMED

ODD SOCIAL BODY THE "STATS OF SCHUYLKILL."

Has Just Passed its 175th Anniversary. Which is Observed by the Usual Semi-Monthly Fish Dinner.

The Schuylkill Fishing company of the state in Schuylkill, said to be the oldest dining club in the world, and certainly in America, has just celebrated the one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding. There was no special doings, but the regular semi-monthly function was observed at the "Castle" on the Delaware river near Andalusia.

Originally the Schuylkill Fishing company of the state in Schuylkill was known as the Colony in Schuylkill. It was founded in 1728 by 28 Philadelphians, some of whom had come out to the new country with William Penn in 1701. Among them was Penn's secretary, James Logan, who remained the proprietary's right-hand man until the end, and for a time was acting governor of the province. All of the founders were members of the Society of Friends.

It was possible 175 years ago to fish with satisfaction in the Schuylkill river within the present city limits and to hunt in the forests on the banks of that stream. As the fishing season opened on the first of May each year, that day marked the beginning of the festivities of the "Colonists," as the members were called. The members alluded in jest to their organization as "the Colony," asserting that they formed an independent colony in North America.

As nearly as possible the dinners today are given in the same simple manner as they were years ago. There are no servants present at these feasts. One member, whose turn it is to act, is the caterer for the occasion. For assistants he has apprentices—members waiting to be received into full membership as "citizens." In former days it was the duty of the caterer to catch the perch and rock and hunt such game as would be needed for the dinner.

But times have changed, and such fish as are eaten nowadays are purchased; otherwise the dinners would be failures considered gastronomically. But fish, and later in the season, game, are not the only dishes set before the "citizens" and their guests. In earlier times there are records of barbecued pig and steamed steaks. The latter are still to be found on the menu at club dinners.

Each "citizen" must take his turn in rotation to act as purveyor, or caterer, unless he has done so regularly for 50 years! Failure to act his part when his turn arrives subjects the delinquent to a fine of five dollars. It is said that this fine has not been imposed, for the club spirit which animates all the members is strong.

On the day of the dinner the caterer and the apprentices assigned to him appear at the "Castle," don white aprons and straw hats and make ready the feast.

The fish are placed in rows in long-handled "fishtrays," or pans. No fork must touch them as they brown. They are basted with a special kind of butter, which has been served from a Bucks county dairy for the last 50 years. Its quality never varies, but its price has. Formerly it was 60 cents a pound; now it costs one dollar. When the fish are browned on one side a dextrous jerk is given the pan, and the fish, stuck together and not to the pan, are tossed so that the other side may be cooked. The steaks are broiled with the same care, and the cooking being done by the purveyor, for the apprentices are not permitted to assist in this dined work. Their work is to carry the cooked morsels to the banquet hall.

Some of the apprentices have been a little awkward, for seldom are they young men; but young or old, it is only by serving an apprenticeship that they can become citizens. There is no regular period of apprenticeship. Membership is limited to 30, and there is a long waiting list. When a vacancy occurs an apprentice is elected to citizenship.

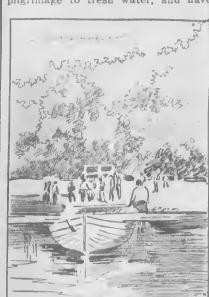

In the history of the organization only one citizen ever escaped a long period of apprenticeship. When Lafayette visited the United States in 1783 the state in Schuylkill elected him to honorary membership, and as a special mark of favor and in recognition of his valuable services to this country, he was not asked to pass an apprenticeship.

Fishing Season Opens With Increased Number of Fish Traps and Nets Set to Catch Them.

Improved methods used by fishermen in capturing the shad and the shad roe as they enter the mouths of the rivers on the Atlantic coast to spawn, are almost certainly accomplishing their extermination in spite of all that the fisheries bureau can do. The season has just opened up and there is less chance of the fish reaching spawning ground than previous years for the enterprising fishermen, no content to take their fish up the river after they had gotten into fresh water where the spawn will be safe, are stretching their nets as far out as possible. In former years the bureau of fisheries was able to capture as high as 210,000,000 eggs in the Susquehanna river, as opposed to 8,000,000 last year. On the Delaware river, where the catch has gone as high as 115,000,000, it last year fell below 500,000, while on the Potomac it fell from 58,000,000 to 12,000,000. Similar conditions exist in all streams along the coast and are rapidly growing worse.

This condition is due, not to the absence of captured fish or to inactivity on the part of the bureau, but to the improved methods at present used by fishermen in capturing the fish. Shad always spawn in fresh water, and they come into the rivers and their tributaries in search of spawning grounds. At other seasons of the year they live in the open waters of the ocean. In the spawning season they were known to be so plentiful years ago in the Potomac and tributaries of the Chesapeake that it was with difficulty that a boat could be pushed among them. Captain John Smith found them so when, in early Jamestown days, he pushed a small boat up the Potomac to a water-fall of the river where they were known to be so plentiful years ago in the Potomac and tributaries of the Chesapeake that it was with difficulty that a boat could be pushed among them. Captain John Smith found them so when, in early Jamestown days, he pushed a small boat up the Potomac to a water-fall of the river where they were known to be so plentiful years ago in the Potomac and tributaries of the Chesapeake that it was with difficulty that a boat could be pushed among them.

This "ruining" of the fish arises from the fact that their eggs are rendered worthless if they come in contact with salt water, so the instinct of the fish induces them to seek inland streams and as a consequence in the spawning season these streams are alive with them when they are not plentiful with. The knowledge of these facts on the part of the fishermen is, however, the downfall and the doom of the shad, for the fishermen catch the fish and then sell them as pilgrimage to fresh water, and have set their nets and traps accordingly, and when the fish start for fresh water they are brought into captivity and are quickly transported to market.

This fact was not in the beginning of the operation of the bureau of fisheries such a material disadvantage, for the fishermen had not then gone beyond the mouths of the rivers, and great numbers of the fish caught spawned while in captivity and the spawners were artificially hatched and used in restocking the streams. But now this process is not possible, for the reason that the nets are placed far beyond the mouths of the rivers, and if the fish are caught and held in captivity, in the mean time spawning, the spawn immediately comes in contact with salt water, which means the death of the fish. The fishermen who formerly set their seines in the waters of the streams have found that more enterprising fishermen have come to the river and are catching the fish ahead of them. This has led the first fishermen to go ahead of the second, and the process has continued until they have got as far as sea as it is possible to set a net. Small on the market are little less plentiful now than in former years. This fact is the not an equal abundance in the streams, but the improved "refillies" on the part of the fishermen in capturing them. The demand for fish has steadily increased, and the popularity of shad roe has led to increased activity on the part of the fishermen. The probability is that both the fish and the roe will in a few seasons, become a rare luxury, and its total exhaustion is regarded as a matter of comparatively few years.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars

when she recovered consciousness the man had fled. The citizens of this section are endeavoring to get the law to put on the trail of Mrs. Fenwick's assailant.

There came near being a most ter-crossing of the L. & N. last Monday when the ore-horse wagon of the Climax Milling Co. was caught between a car and the caboose of a mov-was mashed into smithereens the horse and the two men, John Den-jury altogether. Their escape was nothing short of miraculous. Cheatham was tossed under a car and Denton landed on the main track. The men are thankful for their escape horse could speak English he would likewise tell how glad he is and warm his driver to be more cau-

THE BEST FRIENDS OF PE-RU-NA ARE THE MOTHERS AND CHILDREN

When Sickness Comes to the Little Ones It is the Mother Who Chiefly Suffers.

She suffers even more than the child who has come to be sick. Her sympathy is deeper than that of any other member of the family. The mother looks forward with dread to the first heat of summer, thinking of her children and the many liabilities to disease that are before them. Spring and summer are sure to bring ailments, especially among the little folks.

It does not take a mother very long to discover that Peruna is the best friend she has in time of illness among the children.

A Tattitude of Mothers
Have discovered that Peruna is their standby, and that in many of the ailments of spring and summer to which the children are subjected, Peruna is the remedy that will generally quickly relieve.

Whether it is spring fever or stomach derangement, whether it is indigestion or bowel disease, a catarrhal congestion of the mucous membranes is the cause. Peruna quickly relieves this condition of the mucous membranes. Its operation is prompt, the children do not dislike to take the medicine, it has no deleterious effects on any part of the body.

It simply removes the cause of the disagreeable symptoms and restores the health.

Peruna is a household remedy for all catarrhal ailments of winter and summer, acute or chronic. The mothers all over the United States are the best friends that Peruna has. Mr. G. H. Farmer, New Martinsville, W. Va., writes: "My little boy, Meredith, suffered with indigestion so badly he could not eat anything without it making him very sick, so I thought (as many others have) that I would try Peruna, and it worked like a charm."

"Now he eats anything he wishes, and I would not be without it for anything." "My other little boy, Alfred, two and a half years old, has taken it and secured as much benefit from Peruna as his brother."

"I hope my testimonial may be of some benefit to others, as I feel as though I cannot praise it enough." ---Mrs. J. C. Sterling.

Mr. Howard Andrew Sterner, 424 Canal street, Reading, Pa., writes: "I have Peruna in my house all the time and won't be without it. It is good for children when they take a cold or croup. It cured my baby boy of croup. I have introduced Peruna into six families since I received your last letter, and four have seen relief already."

---Howard Andrew Sterner.
Peruna Protects the Entire Household.

As soon as the value of Peruna is appreciated by every household, both as a preventive and cure, less than thousands of lives will be saved, and hundreds of thousands of chronic, lingering cases of catarrh will be prevented.

But we do hear from a great number of mothers who are so overjoyed at some special good they have received from Peruna that they cannot restrain their enthusiasm. They are anxious to share these benefits with other mothers.

Per-na Should Be Kept In Every Household
Where There Are Little Children.
Per-na should be kept in the house all the time. Don't wait until the child is sick, then send to a drug store. But, have Per-na on hand--accept no substitute.
Children are especially liable to acute catarrh. Indeed, most of the affections of childhood are catarrh.
All forms of sore throat, quincy, croup, hoarseness, laryngitis, etc., are but different phases of catarrh.
Per-na Contains No Narcotics.
One reason why Per-na has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Per-na, if taken according to printed directions, is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. It does not produce temporary results, but it is permanent in its effect.
It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh.

No Doctor Required.
Mr. Edward Otto, 927 De Soto street, St. Paul, Minn., writes:
"I cannot say enough for Per-na. It has done great work in my family, especially for my oldest boy. We had doctored with three or four different doctors and they did not seem to do him any good."
"We gave up hopes of cure, and so did they, but we pulled him through on Per-na."
"We had several doctors and they said they could do no more for him, so we tried Per-na as a last resort, and that did the work. Since then we keep it in the house all the time, and no doctor is required."---Edward Otto.
There are a multitude of homes where Per-na has been used off and on for twenty years.
Such a thing could not be possible if Per-na contained any narcotics.

The Benefit Which the Children of the United States Have Received From Per-na Can Never Be Put Into Words.
The chronic ailments it has prevented, the suffering it has mitigated, will never be fully recorded.
But at least this much can be said that the coming generation owes a great debt to Per-na, for it is in the tender years of youth that slight ailments are liable to develop into lasting disease, thus blighting the whole career of the individual.
The mothers who are bringing up their children today to believe in Per-na are speaking from their experience. These children brought up to believe in Per-na from the start, will, when they become heads of families themselves, use Per-na with unquestioning faith.

A Child's Life Saved.
Mr. G. H. Farmer, New Martinsville, W. Va., writes:
"Our little son, Harry, is well and healthy now and we think if we do as you directed us, he will keep his health and grow strong."
"We know that our little son's life was saved by your wonderful medicine, Per-na, and we shall always praise Per-na and use it in our family when needed."
"Should we have any more catarrhal trouble in our family, we shall always write to you for treatment!"
Mr. W. F. Doring, Mt. Vernon, Mo., writes:
"I have used Per-na to my entire satisfaction, and an exceedingly well pleased with the results, having suffered greatly with catarrh of the stomach."

Mr. J. C. Sterling, 123 Brown Avenue, Norfolk, Va., writes:
"My little boy, Meredith, suffered with indigestion so badly he could not eat anything without it making him very sick, so I thought (as many others have) that I would try Per-na, and it worked like a charm."
"Now he eats anything he wishes, and I would not be without it for anything."

CAR SHORTAGE PREDICTED.

Railroad Commissioner C. C. McChord's Letter of Advice.

Frankfort, Ky., June 24, 1907. TERRY COAL & COKE CO., Hopkinsville, Ky.

GENTLEMEN:
Replying to your favor of the 14th instant, I unhesitatingly advise all consumers of coal to lay in a supply during the summer months and thereby avoid the inconvenience which must result on account of a shortage of cars next winter which in my opinion will be much more acute than was the shortage of last winter, unless the consumers lay in their coal supply as suggested.

You are at liberty to publish this in the interest of the producers and consumers of Coal.

Yours Very Truly,
C. C. McCHORD, Chairman, R. R. Commission State of Ky.

The railroad and coal operating officials of Western Kentucky have given out the same official notice and urge us to advise our stockholders, and customers to lay in their coal this summer.

Last winter's experience and high prices, together with the above timely information should be sufficient warning, and we trust our people will take advantage of it and act at once.

We are ready to supply you with coal in car load lots over either R. R. any day "the best coal at summer time prices," and trust that you will give us your orders early while we can get the cars to ship in.

Yours Very Truly,
TERRY COAL & COKE CO. INCORPORATED, Hopkinsville, Ky.

LOCAL LODGE.

Protective Legion to be Organized Here.

The National Protective Legion will organize a local lodge in Hopkinsville during the first week of next month. This is a beneficial order of high class although at present practically unknown in Hopkinsville. It has over 200,000 members in the United States and over 2,000 lodges. It had $3,521,672.34 assets on the first of June last and is the fourth largest order issuing insurance to its members and the seventh largest fraternal order as to number of members in the United States.

Mr. William N. Famous has been in town for two weeks, soliciting charter members, to whom inducements are made, and he reports good success and the most courteous attention from everyone. Mr. Famous is a resident of San Antonio, Texas.

A Real Wonderland.
South Dakota, which is rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mount City, in the home of Mrs. E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes," writes Mrs. Clapp, "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine, that saved his life and completely cured him." "Guaranteed for coughs and colds, throat and lung troubles, sold by R. C. Hardwick, druggist. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free."

KENTUCKY COUSINS
Cut Out in Distribution of Large Estate.

The contest over the estate of the late Wm. H. Bryar was decided in Louisville this week in favor of the Tennessee heirs, who were first cousins of deceased. The question at issue was whether or not the estate, worth probably $180,000, should go entirely to his first cousins, or whether the descendant's second cousins, living in Christian county, Ky., should participate in the division.

CLOVER FETE

Novel Entertainment by Miss Mary Whitaker.

On Thursday evening, June 20th, Miss Mary Whitaker and Dan W. Perry entertained a number of their friends with a clover fete, at their home on the Bradshaw pike. A prize was offered to the one who spelled the greatest number of words containing not less than three letters. The letters were taken from the clover leaves which each guest wore. Miss Mary West received the prize, which was a box of Huyler's candy. Refreshments were served in the yard. All present enjoyed themselves very much.

Social Session.
E. R. Canaway, C. H. Stowe and C. H. Whaley were initiated into the Elks lodge Tuesday night and a social session and feast followed. Judge J. T. Hanbery presided and speeches were made by Mayor Meacham, Col. Jouett Henry and Messrs. F. W. Dabney, Van Dulin, J. E. Moseley, D. R. Canaway, C. H. Stowe, C. H. Whaley, Jno. B. Russell, W. P. Winfree, L. H. Davis, H. W. Tibbs and others.

Mr. Dulin developed surprising gifts in oratory and concluded his speech with a political recitation that was the hit of the evening.

Harsh physics reat, weaken the bowels, cause chronic constipation. Doan's Regulents operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation 25c. Ask your druggist for them.

Cut Your Weeds.
The people are not complying as promptly as they should with the request of the authorities that they cut the weeds and grass along their fences and sidewalks. The city will gather up the weeds and haul them to the dump pile. No one should neglect to keep his premises clean. Dog days will soon be here and the city should be kept clean.

SHOOTING SEASON FOR TRAINING SHIP

OPENS UP FOR 100,000 AMERICAN SPORTSMEN.

They Will Burn 300,000 Pounds of Powder and Expended 3,000,000 Pounds of Lead Before November.

American marksmen are the foremost in the world, and this is due to the great popularity which trap and target shooting has gained in this country, and during the season which has just opened up and which will run to November it is expected that the 100,000 sportsmen will have shot at 20,000,000 targets, burned 300,000 pounds of powder and expended 3,000,000 pounds of lead. As to the number of shells used there can be no exact estimate, but close to 1,000,000,000 shells are fired every year in the United States, though most of these are for game. The clay pigeons alone will cost more than $150,000 for the season.

Trap shooting is purely an American sport. It originated here and in this country has been brought to its highest development. No other country can begin to approach America in the use of firearms. The records that have been set up by them are fairly amazing. W. H. Hired Combs and Kan, the champion trap shooter of the world, shot at 14,055 targets during the season of 1906. Out of this number he broke 13,537, or an average of 963 per cent. This means that out of every hundred targets Mr. Heer shot at, he missed only 2.7. Besides this he made a tournament run of 254 straight targets without a single miss. For the season, Mr. Heer beat his nearest competitor only by a small margin, Crosby breaking 11,667 targets out of 12,156 shot at, making an average of 959. Crosby, however, eclipsed Heer completely in running up an unbroken score, breaking 439 targets successfully before he was out of 500 targets. During the season of 1905 56 other Americans averaged 90 per cent or better out of from 3,000 to 15,000 targets. Of these 30 were professional shots and 26 were amateurs.

New York is one of the great trap shooting centers of the country, with more than 60 gun clubs within a radius of 20 miles. Live pigeon shooting used to be the great sport, but this has been prohibited in New York, as well as in many other states, and New Yorkers who want to shoot live birds now have to go to Pennsylvania. Live bird shooting, however, in a cruel sport at best, and wanton slaughter of cooped birds has done much to bring it into disfavor. At one live bird meet in Indiana, on Staten Island, several years ago, 3,000 birds were shot to pieces in one day. It is estimated that 50 per cent of them were never picked up, and as a result the field was strewn with torn and wounded birds that were left to die a lingering death.

The city pigeon is now generally replaced by the live one. The city target was invented by a man named Ligowsky, who got the idea from a "Duck and Drake" game played by some boys at Atlantic City, where they threw out clay saucers, which were shot as they bounced and skipped over the surface of the water. Ligowsky introduced the new target in 1881. It was about the size of a saucer, made of red clay. Those used today are made of clay and tar. They cost about five dollars a thousand.

The clay targets are thrown from spring traps which are worked by hand or electricity. A new idea is the tower trap, first erected in this country at Pinchurst, N. C. The tower is 50 feet high, and contains two traps, right and left. The puller is protected by a thick plank partition. Five different kinds of targets are made from the tower: Right and left overhead, double and unknown angle. The unknown angle throw is an exceedingly difficult shot and requires great skill and quickness.

Since its origin in America, the sport of trap shooting has spread abroad and is now popular in all parts of the world. A great many countries still import clay pigeons from America. The latest country to take up trap shooting is the Philippines.

Trap shooting owes its greatest development to the introduction of smokeless powder, which immediately marked a new era in the use of the shot gun. Since its general adoption the proficiency of American sportsmen has increased to a wonderful degree, so that their equal is perhaps not to be found in the world today.

MAYFLOWER MAY GO TO ST. LOUIS FOR USE OF MARINES.

City on the Mississippi to Be Given the Facilities for Practical Training of the Men of the State Organization.

If the navy department were asked which city of the country supplied the greatest number of recruits for the navy, it would reply without hesitation, that that distinction belonged to St. Louis. And this fact has led the department to decide to send a training ship to that city and the choice, it is said, lies between the Gloucester, and the Mayflower, with the chances in favor of the latter boat.

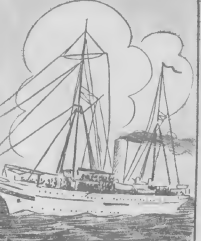

Aboard the training ship which will visit St. Louis life in the navy, as it really exists, will be demonstrated, with the hope of inducing young men of the city to choose the navy as a career and to encourage the Missouri and Illinois naval reserves in their work on the banks of the Mississippi. Competent officers will be always aboard to show visitors about the yacht and explain the many phases of marine life, so vaguely comprehended by the people of the interior.

In the days of yore, when bowling "boarders" swarmed upon the frigates with dirks and muskets—in the days of John Paul Jones, when he would fight aboard an American battleship, needed brawn, arm muscle and daring. To-day brains count in the navy, as well as personal strength, and the men who aim the guns and direct the order of battle are as scientific and learned as in any branch of the government service.

Each man must be somewhat of a specialist. The cook in the bowels of the ship is trained, the cook is trained, the common seaman is trained and the artificers—men are placed in the breeches which best fit them and each may become proficient in his work and look forward to advancement.

The marine reserves of Missouri, whose quarters are on the north levee of the city, while an important and commendable feature of the navy, are handicapped because of limited quarters and means. It was partly in the interest of the reserves, that citizens advocated the sending of a training ship to St. Louis.

The reserves occupy a dummy ship, which was on display at the world's fair and, although it is visited by a great many people, the young men of the city, who are eligible to enlist in the navy, would rather see the maneuvers aboard a regular watercraft. The blacksmiths are taught how to make shackles, chains, bolts, man-bands, padlocks, ironwork for blocks and all other iron construction used in the fitting up of the ship.

The plumbers are taught pipe bending, sheet-brass brazing, cutting threads on pipes for bolts, etc. The carpenter gets a special course in wood carving, and all wood construction necessary for work aboard. The painter is taught extensively, the best way to mix colors, varnishes and the right way to apply them.

With the great advance of electrical appliances in the navy in recent years, the field covered by the course of electricity in one of these manual training schools is necessarily very wide, and by the time a youth has fulfilled the requirements, he has an education which would be worth a considerable sum to him in the outside world.

The provision made for the education of "yeoman," clerks, bookkeepers and office employees, who are destined to serve aboard ship as such, is very large, and in the various naval schools are conducted military departments for the education of these men.

The training ship, which will anchor off St. Louis, will display all these features to good advantage. At the same time she will not forget her "fighting properties."

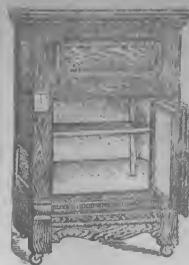

Formerly the class of men attracted by the naval recruiting stations were fond of a not very desirable game, and joined the navy in hopes of earning an easy life without much to do. To-day, since the pay has been increased and the elevation of the average seaman has been made more easy, a higher standard of recruits is noticeable.

HARD TO BE STILL.

The Spirit of Rush Dominates The Age.

If there is one lesson more than another I need to learn, it is to be still. The spirit of rush that dominates the age is contagious. I feel its fever in my blood, and I want ever to be on the move, to be doing something either with my hands or with my brain. Yet this continual activity is not essential to success; rather it is a hindrance to the accomplishment of my best. I am dissipating nerve force by occupying moments that might otherwise seem idle by futile business over matters of no concern. I should take time to repair the waste tissue of brain and solar plexus. Time to relax. Time to sit still.

Nature teaches me this truth. The land needs its periods of rest. Instinct guides the animals to hibernation or otherwise regain the vigor spent in the struggle for existence. Man alone thinks he can violate this fundamental law and keep the human machinery going under pressure without intervals of quietness. Yet experience has demonstrated that the end is break down and premature incapacity. I would only practice the habit of taking a brief time to be still daily in the midst of my work; letting the tense muscles relax, and the mind be as nearly empty as possible, I would probably save myself the necessity of an enforced vacation just when there is greatest need for putting on all steam.

TOURISTS IN WALES THE LIVING EYES

WIND DELIGHT IN THE BEAUTIFUL MOUNTAIN SCENERY.

Varied Experiences Which Reward Excursionists Through the Western Part of the Old Little Country.

Western Wales is a section of the British Isles which is not often penetrated by the American tourist, and hence the beauty of the scenery is not as well known as that of other more frequented spots. Harbours are one of the most enchanting of places. It may be compared as Wordsworth suggested, with the loveliest scenes in the western Highlands of Scotland; but in not a few respects it is unique. The board estuary of the Mawddach, spanned by the railway bridge, the flowing tides sweeping inland from the sea between wooded hills, the mountain slopes with their purple hues intermingling with the soft green of the boulder and fern, the distant summit of Cader Idris rising royally above the surrounding heights—such are the features which form a picture that once seen can never be forgotten.

The town is picturesquely built, house above house, up the steep and rocky slope that rises in places almost precipitously from the streets below. When the waters of the harbor and the estuary are dotted with fishing and pleasure craft, the scene is one of great charm. Boating, fishing, bathing, walking, mountaineering—these are the attractions which this famous pleasure resort offers; it is a capital center also for the cyclist and motorist.

The visitor has an infinite variety of walks. He can stroll along the coast northwards until he reaches the hamlet of Llanaber, whose weather-beaten church is perched picturesquely on the cliff above the fishing and pleasure craft, the scene is one of great charm.

The dominant mountain in this part of Wales is Cader Idris ("Chair of Id").

THEY LOOKED OUT AT POOR MADAME FROM A PORTRAIT.

But Her Husband Laughed at Her Fears and That is Why the Thief Got Away With His Valuable Loot.

At two o'clock one October morning, when the vast city of St. Petersburg was for the most part serenely sleeping, a Russian official, M. Skotkief, and his wife, returned home from some place of entertainment.

The servants having gone to bed, it seemed strange to Madame, as she slipped off her cloak in the hall, to hear a sound resembling the pushing and pulling of a crowd, presumably from the drawing-room.

M. Skotkief, rushing to the spot, found his wife lying in a dead faint upon the floor.

"What can that be?" she inquired with a startled look.

"Didn't you hear a noise in the drawing-room just now?"

"I can't say that I noticed one," replied M. Skotkief, "but we will look in and see if anything is amiss."

Taking a lighted candle from the side-table, the two made a cursory examination of the apartment, and finding nothing out of place, looked into the other rooms with like result.

"I'm certain that I heard some thing," persisted Madame, once more entering the drawing-room. In a moment, with a loud scream, she was out again.

"What's the matter now?" inquired her husband, greatly astonished.

"The portrait!" I glanced at it, and lo! it's eyes moved. Real eyes! They looked at me!"

The poor young wife was trembling violently, but her husband only laughed at what he considered childish fears.

Against the wall of the drawing-room, it must be explained, rested a full-length portrait of Madame Skotkief's grandfather, in the uniform of a Union officer.

Thirty minutes passed before she was sufficiently composed to prepare for bed, and then she suddenly remembered having left her purse containing six pounds in the drawing-room, and bravely insisted upon fetching it herself.

So again taking a candle she set forth upon her search.

Another wild shriek broke the stillness of the house, and M. Skotkief, rushing to the spot, found his wife lying in a dead faint upon the floor.

About the room, and her mother then carried Madame Skotkief upstairs, and whilst M. Skotkief busied himself in applying restoratives, the latter by his orders, searched the fatal room.

In the broad light of day M. Skotkief, looking closely at the portrait, discovered that the eyes had been cut out, and that it had been moved further from the wall. Many articles of value being missed, it was clear upon further investigation that real eyes had frightened poor Madame.

It is a well-known fact that the eyes of a well-painted portrait do indeed seem to follow anyone, who looks at it about the room.

As M. Skotkief was aware of this he did not take his wife's remarks so seriously as he might have done. In her case, however, it was no illusion.

Unfortunately the thief was never caught, and his nefarious act remained unpunished.
